3. "One day back there in the good old days when I was nine and the world was full of every imaginable kind of magnificence, and life was still a delightful and mysterious dream..." The story begins in a mood of nostalgia. Can you narrate some incident from your childhood that might make an interesting story?

Ans: There are various childhood experiences which are still imprinted in my mind and soul, but there is one that stands out the most. I still remember that day our school announced the school trip to Nainital, a hill station near our school. The bus ride was the most memorable part of the ride. The ride was pleasant, and there were many rivers we passed by. We stopped at a petrol station, and we were asked to get down if we wanted to. My friends and I got down just to relax a bit and pack up our energy for the ride ahead. When we were just hanging around, one of my friends called and said she saw a camel. We rushed to that place and there was a camel resting. He would have been with the nomads. We touched it and the excitement with which we saw it was almost like one seeing a unicorn. After that, our teacher called us back and we rushed onto the bus and our journey continued ahead.

4. The story revolves around characters who belong to a tribe in Armenia. Mourad and Aram are members of the Garoghlanian family. Now locate Armenia and Assyria on the atlas and prepare a write-up on the Garoghlanian tribes. You may write about people, their names, traits, geographical and economic features as suggested in the story.

Ans: Garoghlanian tribe is from Armenia. They are mostly settled in the areas of California. It is a part of the tribe's tradition to be loyal, honest, and truthful. Hospitality is also an important part of Armenian culture. They are most likely to be Christian and are proud of their culture and heritage that they carry. Some sources also suggest that this tribe is fictitious and was formed by William Saroyan in his book "My Name is Aram" (1940). They follow the basic concepts of Christianity and believe in the forgiveness of sins.
